Jeb Guthrie and Jock Guthrie, the GUTHRIE BROTHERS, share their passion for great vocal music with their audiences. They perform music with startling authenticity in an “unplugged” acoustic style. Their playlist ranges from modern artists such as Coldplay, John Mayer, Green Day and Dave Matthews to classics including the Beatles, James Taylor, Simon and Garfunkel, the Eagles, and Van Morrison. The brothers have been singing together for as long as either one of them can remember—a major reason for the perfect blend of their harmonies. Both Jock and Jeb play acoustic guitar and sing.

“The music that we play is truly an extension of who we are,” Jock says. “Our philosophy is to do songs that we feel directly connected to. We can trace these connections back to shared experiences and feelings from our childhood.”

“We think this is the reason we can be so faithful to the spirit and sound of whatever period or type of music we’re playing--including our own music. We play together as one,” Jeb says.

Drawing on their influences, the GUTHRIE BROTHERS put on a show that is a musical journey from the 50s through the 2000s.

The Guthries’ original music received national attention with the release of their self-titled, debut album. The album garnered extensive airplay on both Americana and Country radio stations. About the album, Billboard Magazine said, “Many stations will find the well-written, heartfelt lyrics and wonderful harmonies a welcome addition to their airwaves.” The album was re-released earlier this year and can be heard and purchased online at the iTunes Music Store, Napster and Rhapsody.

Extensive touring, combined with live radio and television appearances in support of the album, added the seasoning that makes the GUTHRIE BROTHERS’ performances sparkle today.
